"To seek more education after high school is becoming more than a privilege; it is a fundamental right. To go to the college of your choice is no longer limited in many States to those whose families can afford it. The unique characteristic of the United States higher education system is to provide for all citizens the freedom of college-going and college-choice, without the restraint of dollars available."

-- Joseph D. Boyd

Includes revised statewide totals for Connecticut and Maine (see page 1690).

At this time of year (early September), with forty-five states having reported appropriations of nearly $16 billion, with the rate of two-year gain standing at 22 per cent, it is possible to guess that the 50-state total for fiscal 1981 will be somewhat above $21 billion.

The five states as yet unreported include four of the top ten most populous: California, Michigan, Florida, and Massachusetts. The fifth state is much smaller--Delaware. For fiscal 1980 these five states appropriated more than four and one-half billion.

With expected reasonable gains for 1981 over 1980 (perhaps 10 percent or more for the period of one year) the five unreported states may aggregate $5 billion. Forty-five states have already reported such gains--a precedent on which this guess is based. GRAPEVINE hopes to finish the 50-state story soon.
